

Joondalup Young Business & Professional Woman Award 2008

The Young BPW Award is an annual event which recognises the achievements of young women in the northern suburbs. It is part of a growth and development program to assist young women to reach their potential through mentoring and other development opportunities.

The award is presented to a high achieving woman aged under 35 who displays excellent leadership and communication skills. Joondalup's winner will receive an annual membership to BPW and go forward to the State finals in September. Young BPW awardees can also nominate for the national award at BPW's national conference to be held in 2010.
